Academic-Year Costs

In-state tuition for the 1995-96 school year (two semesters) is $2,756 at UIC, $2,457 at UIS, and $3,000 at UIC. Annual tuition for in-state graduate students is $3,300 at UIC, $1,990 at UIS, and $3,420 at UIUC. Students enrolled in the professional schools pay varying rates: dentistry, $5,930; law, $5,000; medicine, $9,520; pharmacy, $3,540; and veterinary medicine, $6,370. Out-of-state students are charged tuition at approximately three times that charged Illinois residents.

Mandatory fees, which support student union buildings, recreation, counseling, health services and insurance, are different at the three campuses. For a two-semester academic year, Chicago students are assessed $1,218 for fees; UIS students are assessed $376; and students at Urbana-Champaign pay $958.

An "average" UIC commuter undergraduate, who lives at home with his/her family, can expect total expenses to be about $9,512 for the academic year. Included are tuition, fees, books and supplies, daily travel and moderate personal expenses. A student living in campus housing can expect his/her costs to be $13,536 for the academic year.

An "average" UIS commuter undergraduate can expect expenses to be about $9,322 for the academic year. A UIS student in campus housing can expect costs of $8,837.

An "average" undergraduate living on campus at Urbana-Champaign can expect total expenses to be $11,300 for the academic year.

Student Financial Aid

Financial aid totaling $351 million assisted U. of I. students in 1993-94. Nearly 116,512 awards were made to 47,514 students. "Gift" aid, including scholarships, grants, fellowships, and tuition and fee waivers, accounted for 46 percent of the total. Employment and loans covered 54 percent. Students earned over $75.7 million from university-related jobs in 1993-94.

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS AT CHICAGO PROFILE

Located in the heart of Chicago, within walking distance of the Loop, the University of Illinois at Chicago is a vital part of the educational, technological and cultural fabric of the Chicago metropolitan area.

UIC is the largest university in the Chicago area and one of the 88 leading research universities in the nation. It has 90 buildings on 216 acres. Many of its faculty have national reputations in fields as diverse as virtual reality, X-ray laser technology, urban affairs, medicinal plants and neurosurgery.

UIC was formed in 1962 by the consolidation of two U. of I. campuses: the Medical Center campus, which dates back to the 19th century, and the Chicago Circle campus, a comprehensive university that opened in 1965 to replace the two-year undergraduate division at Navy Pier, which was founded in 1946 to educate returning veterans.

In recent years, UIC has stepped up its efforts to improve the quality of life in Chicago and other metropolitan areas. Its Great Cities program directs teaching, research and public service into elementary and secondary education, health care, economic development and violence control in the Chicago area.
UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS AT SPRINGFIELD PROFILE

The University of Illinois at Springfield (UIS) came into being on July 1, 1965, when Sangamon State University was united with the University of Illinois. Sangamon State had been governed by the Illinois Board of Regents since 1960 when it was established by the Illinois General Assembly as the first of two senior institutions in the state. Originally envisioned as an innovative response to the growth of Illinois' community college system and as a new means for individuals to enter upper-division and graduate study, SSU was charged with addressing public affairs within the framework of a liberal arts curriculum. Throughout its 25-year history, the university has consistently stressed practical experience, professional development, and excellent teaching. UIS allows its students first-hand access to state government and public service through special courses, projects, and internship opportunities. The campus is located on 746 acres a few miles south of the capital city near Lake Springfield.

Total enrollment, Fall 1995: 4,378
Full-time equivalent employees, Fall 1995: Faculty, 174; administrative and professional, 96; support staff, 280.
Graduate Assistants, Fall 1995: 72
Degrees awarded, 1994-95: 867 (Sangamon State University degrees)

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS AT URBANA-CHAMPAIGN PROFILE

Since its founding in 1867 as a state-supported, land-grant institution, the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign has been teaching students to transfer advanced knowledge to a new generation; undertaking research to explore the outer edges of human knowledge; and performing public service so that everyone enjoys the results of current scholarship and new discoveries. Located in the state's heartland, the campus ranks among the world's great universities; its faculty, students, academic programs, and facilities have earned outstanding recognition.
