Re: FOIA 14-431

Dear Mr. Sander:

I am responding to your request dated June 5, in which you agreed to the July 31 response date, under the Illinois Freedom of Information Act in which you request:

“data, in either printed or electronic form--electronic data would be preferred--on the background and demographic characteristics of applicants to your undergraduate program for the 2011-12 and 2012-13 admission cycles. (By 2012-13, for example, I am referring to the admissions cycle that began last fall and led to the admission of freshmen entering in the fall of 2013). I am generally interested in the objective data your school systematically collects for use in admissions decisions. These include, if you collect this information: SAT I (or Reasoning Test), including Math, Critical Reading, and Writing scores; SAT II subject tests, reporting score and subject; ACT scores; Advanced Placement Scores, reporting score by subject; High school GPA (as reported by the applicant's high school); Adjusted high school GPA (if your college uses an adjusted measure); Race; Ethnicity or Hispanic origin; Gender; High school class rank; Parent's income (in any reported categories); Parent's occupation; Highest level of education achieved by a parent, or father's educational attainment and mother's educational attainment' Whether the student lives in a single parent household; State residency status; College program for which applicant is considered, if applicable; Whether the student was offered an athletic scholarship or admitted through an athletic preference; Whether the student has parents who are alumni/ae of your school; Any numerical admissions index used in making admissions decisions; Was the applicant accepted; Did the applicant enroll. In addition to the specific data, I would like copies of admissions policies or background materials on how this information is used in admissions decisions. For example, I am interested in how your institution handles applicants with multiple scores on the SAT or ACT; the adjusted method you use (if any) for high school grades; whether the strength of an applicant's high school is a factor in admissions, and so on.”

Information responsive to your request is available and attached. These are public documents and would, if printed, number 4,347 pages. Because the XLS file type allows for editing of the included data, we ask that prior to opening the files you accept responsibility for accurate dissemination of this information and agree that no manipulation of the file that results in falsification of the information will occur. There are some data elements that we do not collect or use in the selection process: SAT II, AP scores, High School GPA (as reported on transcript), Parent income, Parent occupation, Parent's highest level of education, Single family home, Legacy status (parents are alums).

Portions of these documents have been redacted pursuant to the following section(s) of the Act:

- Certain information has been redacted as exempt from production under section 7(1)(a) of the Freedom of Information Act. Specifically, the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) (20 U.S.C. §1232g) protects the privacy of student education records and prohibits the release of any information from a student's education record without the consent of the eligible student or parent of the student. In this case, certain data was not displayed when it could result in the identification of a student or applicant.
- 140/7(1)(c) that exempts from disclosure "Personal information contained within public records, the disclosure of which, if disclosed, would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy, unless the disclosure is consented to in writing by the individual subjects of the information." This includes personally identifiable student and applicant information.
